Reich Der Kaiser

In response to many requests the REPUBLICAN publishes the poem recited by Captain Coglian at the New York banquet, which involved us in diplomatic trouble with Germany. The trouble which arose, has created the desire to know more of the cause and these verses are for this reason reprinted and not because of either their merit or taste, for they are neither praiseworthy nor elegant.

Der Kaiser von das Vaterland,
Und Gott und I all dings command;
We two, ach, don't you understand?
Meinself—and Gott.

Vile some men sing der power divine,
Mein soldiers sing "Die Watch am Rhein,"

Und drink der health in Rhenish wine—
Of me—and Gott.

There's France, she swaggers all around;
She's ausgespielt, she's no agground;
To much, we dinks, she don't amount—
Meinself—and Gott.

She will not dare to fight again,
But if she should I'll show her brain,
Dat Elze (and in French) Lorraine—
Are made by Gott.

Dere's Grandma, I dinks she's nicht schmal her,
Mit Boers and such she interfere;
She'll learn aus owns dis hemisphere
But me—and Gott.

She dinks, good frau, some ships she's got,
Und soldien halt der scarlet coat,
Ach! we coo-knock 'em—poof!—like dot.

vars;
Mars;
Cears—
Gott.

28. I'll hammer every whine,
Mits aspect dark und visag, rim—
Gott pulls mit me—and I mit him—
Meinself—and Gott.

NELSON

John Holloway has returned to Nelson after an absence of several days. The correspondent regrets that Mr. Holloway has taken offense at our plain words in a back issue, which position was held by our best citizens. If the gentleman desires to do what is right, however, he will find no more cordial supporter than the Nelson correspondent of this paper.

Harry Coburn has retired from duty as editor of the Time Card and X Taylor after a year's rest, has resumed the position he has held down so faithfully since the town started. We wish Nelson success and to Harry the same hoping he may be able to find employment that he may stay in our midst.

A gang of Indian Gypsies or hoboes (we don't know which) was in town last Saturday parading the streets with two pet monkeys begging for money to see the monkeys dance.

This is the last week of our school, which has indeed been a very successful term and we hope to be able to secure the same teachers for next term.

The Masonic Lodge had a well attended meeting Friday night and gave Dr. Quigg, of Backwater, the entered apprentice degree.

Miss Minnie Rentschler, of Billingsville, Mo., is visiting her sister, Mrs. P. H. Koenig, this week.

George Alexander, wife and little girl spent Sunday in Pettis county visiting relatives.

Mrs. Pearl Dougherty visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Williams at Koping Sunday.

J. F. Vertis went to St. Louis on business last Thursday and returned on Saturday.

BLACKBURN

Several of the bright youths of Blackburn who are fond of eggs, to escape parental detection built a fire on Sunday, under a vacant building belonging to Mrs. L. A. Blackburn, and proceeded to prepare a feast, the timely appearance of a negro upon the scene prevented the roasting of eggs as well as other things and probably lives. No further damage was done than the burning of the floor in the building.

Several invitations to the graduating exercises of St. Luke's Training School, St. Louis, on Wednesday, 3rd, have been received by the friends of Miss Charlotte Swift, who is one of the graduates.

I. P. Taylor, Tom Davis, D. M. Pinkerton, Tom Gaines, Lewis Hering, M. Beamer, A. T. Catron and H. C. Spencer have gone on their annual fishing expedition.

Paul Allen went to Marshall to see his better half Monday. We hope Mr. Allen will soon be able to procure a house and move his family here.

Friday closed a very successful 8 months term of school here. The quorum of teachers were reelected for next term of school.

Blackburn is very proud of its mandolin club. We are generously treated to music during the evenings of the pretty weather.

George R. Davis came up from Marshall Monday and will visit among his friends here before returning to his home in K. C.

James Hunter, who has been traveling in the West in the interest of Brown's Cocoa Co., is at home for the summer.

Miss Lilly Swift and brother, Birt, attended the graduating exercises at St. Luke's Hospital on Wednesday.

Miss Minnie Kennedy of Higginsville is the guest of her brother, Tom Kennedy and family.

Elder T. W. Hancock preached at the Christian church Sunday.

Miss Stella Spencer is visiting her grandmother at Corder.

Miss Minnie Ashurst returned to Lexington on Monday.
